Common traits and general soft skills¹ of entrepreneurs

CREATIVE

Entrepreneurship starts with an idea.

Entrepreneurs are not satisfied with the status quo. They think outside the box and look for opportunities to come up with new solutions.

PASSIONATE

Without passion, there is no reason for your work and no drive to do it.

Entrepreneurs love what they do and are extremely dedicated to the businesses they create. To be successful, you must be confident in yourself and your business, and you must be proactive with what you do and how you do it.

MOTIVATED

Entrepreneurs are their own boss, which means there is no one telling them to do things. You must be in charge of your own time and how you spend it.

In an interview with The Computerworld Smithsonian Awards Program, the late Apple founder Steve Jobs said, "I'm convinced that about half of what separates the successful entrepreneurs from the non-successful ones is pure perseverance."

OPTIMISTIC

Entrepreneurs are dreamers and believe their ideas are possible, even when they seem unattainable. When they are confronted with challenges, entrepreneurs do not see them as problems; they see them as opportunities. Challenges fuel entrepreneurs and make them reach higher and do more.

ACTION AND FUTURE-ORIENTATED

Because entrepreneurs are focused on moving forward, they are always looking toward the future. They are very goal-oriented and know exactly what they want. They set their goals and everything they do is aimed at achieving those goals.

Entrepreneurs are doers and having a strong vision helps propel you toward accomplishment.

FLEXIBLE

Entrepreneurs know how to adapt to unfamiliar situations. If their business requires that they learn how to build a website or send an invoice, they will do it. Whatever it takes, entrepreneurs are ready and willing. They always approach things with an open mind and are willing to change course if they need to.

RESOURCEFUL AND PROBLEM SOLVERS

In business, problems are not a matter of if, but when. Entrepreneurs do not shy away from challenges or conflicts. Instead, they face them head on and come up with a solution. They know how to solve problems effectively.

ADVENTUROUS AND RISK TAKERS

Entrepreneurs know that to be successful, they must be willing to take risks. While they do not mind walking on the wild side, they do not take risks lightly. They know how to plan for the unknown and make a calculated decision that is best for them and their business.

¹Soft skills are a combination of people skills, social skills, communication skills, character or personality traits, attitudes, career attributes, social intelligence and emotional intelligence quotients, among others, that enable people to navigate their environment, work well with others, perform well, and achieve their goals with complementing hard skills (Wikipedia).

The Entrepreneurship Competence Framework (EntreComp)²

The European Commission published the European Entrepreneurship Competence Framework (EntreComp) in 2016 and since then it has had an important task in starting conversations and improving understanding of what it means to be entrepreneurial in all aspects of life. The framework establishes the importance of entrepreneurship and initiative and shows how people and organisations can develop this competence to tackle economic, social and cultural challenges.

Entrepreneurship is a competence for life. Being creative or thinking about how to do things in new ways is equally relevant to progressing your career or coming up with new business ideas.

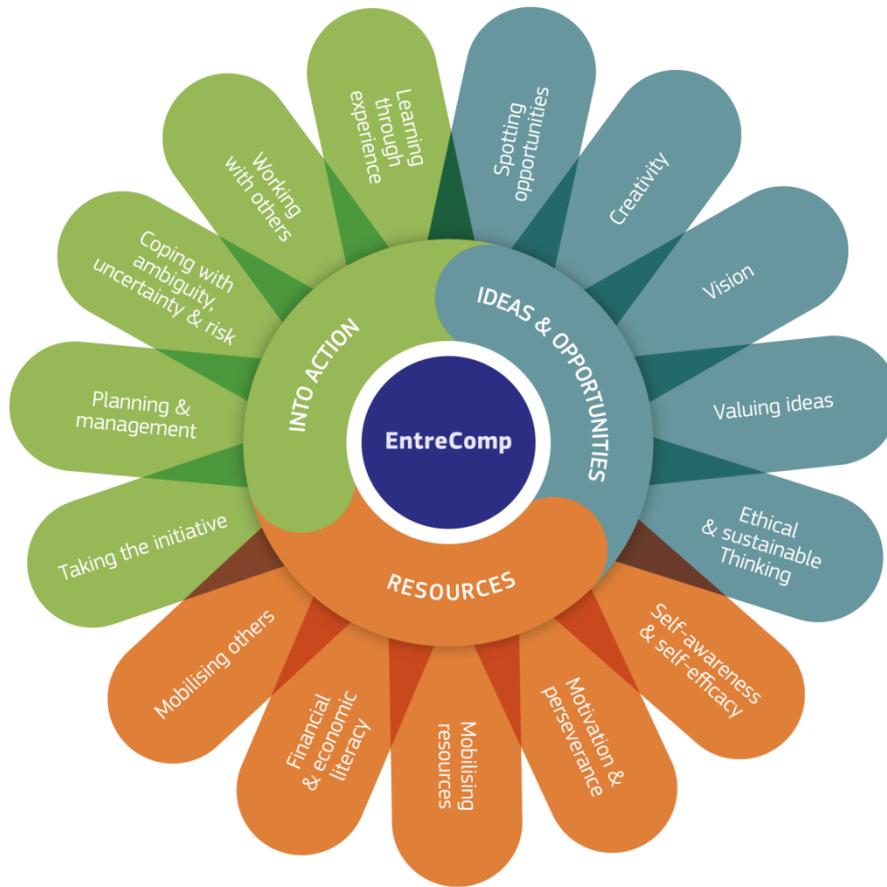

Taking the initiative, mobilising others and getting them on board with your idea are useful skills when fundraising for your local sports team, or establishing a new social enterprise. Understanding how to put a plan into action and use finances wisely are relevant for your own life and for business planning in a small or medium-sized company (SME).

EntreComp is made up of 3 competence areas: Ideas & Opportunities, Resources, and Into Action. Each area contains 5 competences, and together these make up the 15 competences that individuals use to discover and act upon opportunities and ideas.
